All the above mentioned children were born in Naseema Nursing Home at Mandi Mohalla here from where they were sold illegally before being rescued and handed over to the Child Protection Unit where they are in a healthy condition.

The parents or guardians of these children, if any, are requested to contact the Child Protection Officer's office or the Office of the Child Welfare Committee over Ph: 0821-2543003.

It may be recalled that following complaints of illegal child trafficking racket in the district, the District Police led by the Superintendent of Police (SP) in Nov. 2016, conducted raids and had rescued 17 children besides arresting 8 persons including the kingpin behind the child trafficking racket.

Later, the parents of four children were traced and the kids were handed over to their custody. The remaining 13 children were handed over to the Government Balamandira in city for care-taking. Out of 13 children, the authorities have now christened four kids and have released their photographs for their parents to identify and take custody of them.

Beware, want of water wisdom

Denizens of the forest are figuring in media reports along with womenfolk in rural parts across the land for all bad but virtually the same reason. Graphics and videos during telecast by news channels are portraying the thirsty jumbos and the hard-working women desperately in search of water, mainly for drinking by both parties and for bare daily needs by the latter. Juxtaposed to this grim scenario is the urban scene, particularly the metros, witnessing mindless wastage of water, the precious gift of nature, brought to their kitchens, bathrooms, toilets and also for flooding their front yards, not to forget wetting the plants in their premises. The towns people, armed with sumps, and a growing number of them constructing borewells for captive access to groundwater, are known to be happily unfazed by media reports presenting a grim picture of the water related matters — scarcity, pollution and wanton destruction of all kinds of water bodies.

Figures of India's disadvantageous global position such as, high share in the world's population, low share in availability of water needed to support both life of living forms and other unavoidable economic human activities, unsustainable population density many times that a global average and other related issues, repeatedly included in this column earlier have made no impact on the minds of both people at large and authorities in successive governments.

Unprecedented excavation of sand from river beds, an activity in which the Karnataka players of building construction sector seem to be notoriously in the forefront, fouling up both flowing and stationary stock of water such as Ganga in the North and lakes across Karnataka, including Mysuru, compounded by deficit monsoon for which also everyone knows who has to own the blame — those who continue denuding the once luscious forests — cannot be put back like words spoken or time ticking every second. The tragedy is not that the foregoing water-supply-threatening features of humans at large cannot be reined in, but the tragedy is that they are not only continuing but gaining acceleration.

Governments at the levels of Centre and States as well as urban local bodies are vested with the onerous responsibility of meeting the (drinking) water needs of citizens, down to the last one. The extent to which that responsibility has been fulfilled is as clear as day light. One cannot but stress the imperatives of the currently witnessed 'want of water wisdom' and counterproductive 'water behaviour' of all sections in the land's diaspora. Not a day is too early to start acting.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

Social media is increasingly becoming anti-social media. In India, social media continues to be a conduit of information and opinion, on anything and everything from recipes to home remedies for common ailments, from where to find a reliable plumber to how to get rid of the termites that have suddenly infested your home. But all this good work is in danger of being undone thanks to a particular breed of pest which thrives in the largely unregulated free-for-all social media: the troll. In Scandinavian mythology, trolls are ugly monsters who live in caves. In today's e-world, trolls are ugly monsters who live in the caverns of cyberspace from which they exude their toxic malice through hate mails aimed at any and all who disagree with them. The troll mantra is not Make in India but Muck in India. And the troll objective is to throw however much dirt it takes to turn social media into antisocial muddier. — Jug Suraiya in The Times of India.

Meet the female mechanics!

Harrisburg: Sick of being taken for a ride by male car mechanics whenever she went to an auto repair shop, Patrice Banks became a certified mechanic herself and running an all-female car repair business in Philadelphia. The mechanics would either try to overcharge her, or make her wait simply because she was a woman. Then, one day, a mechanic tried to sell her an air filter, and she had a feeling that he was overcharging her, Patrice ended up declining the offer. But the experience convinced her to fix her car without being looked down at men. She surfed online and find only five women owned their own auto shop in all of the United States, none of them near Philadelphia, so she decided to fill this void starting with herself. Patrice Banks started taking night classes in auto maintenance, and eventually became a certified mechanic. She founded Girls Auto Clinic and started organising a series of workshops and trainings for women.

Shower Hair Drawings

Montgomery: Most people let the strands of hair that fall off when their shower just go down the drain, or they throw it in the trash, but Lucy Gafford, a multimedia artist from Alabama, uses it to create detailed works of art right on her bathroom wall.

The self-proclaimed "Shower Hair Master" discovered that her wet hair made a unique, albeit bizarre art medium, three years ago, while showering. She gathered the hair that came off of her head while washing it, and spread it on the bathroom wall, as she usually did. She planned to throw it away after she was done, but this time she noticed that the strands made up a recognizable shape, so she started playing around with the mass of hair and ended up creating a squirrel.

Gafford photographed it and posted her shower hair masterpiece on social media, as a gag, but a lot of people really liked it. That made her continue with the shower hair art and she hasn't looked back ever since. Lucy Gafford has consistently posted new "drawings" at least once a week. She has created a whopping 420 artworks so far.

Dr. Lokesh HM
Consultant Gastro-Oncosurgeon

Q: Hello doctor, my father is 62yrs old, he had developed gastric kind of symptoms and loss of appetite, he was evaluated with endoscope, found to have ulcer in the stomach, biopsy from the ulcer suggestive of Adenocarcinoma. I have been told that he is suffering from stomach cancer and advised to undergo surgery, can he be treated and cured without surgery with only chemotherapy?

A: Hi, before we decide on the treatment of stomach cancer, we need to stage the disease with Contrast Enhanced CT (CECT) scan of abdomen, to see the spread of disease locally and to distant organs. If the cancer is localized only to stomach without spread, it's better to go for surgery i.e Gastrectomy + D2 Lymph node dissection.

Gastrectomy means removal of stomach, amount of stomach removed depends on size and location of cancer in the stomach, sometimes only distal half to 3/4 is removed and sometimes whole stomach will be removed.

D2 Lymph node dissection means removal of lymph nodes around the stomach and around blood vessels that supply the stomach. This procedure is done to clear the microscopic spread of cancer to lymph nodes. This reduces the chances of recurrence of cancer in the future.

After surgery, depending on the final stage of cancer, need of chemotherapy will be decided. Chemotherapy will help in reducing the chances of recurrence of cancer, does not cure the stomach cancer without surgery.

VOICE OF THE READER

Remembering Prof. S. Dandapani

Sir,

Apropos the letter Tribute to my Teacher Prof. S. Dandapani by Dr.N.N. Prahallada, former Associate Professor in Education, RIE (SOM dated Apr. 22), I too would like to share my association with Prof. Dandapani.

When I was appointed as Principal of Navodaya Vidyalaya, Shivaragudda, Mandya, in 1986, I was asked to go to New Delhi for a six-day training. As per instructions, I went to NCERT guest house. The receptionist gave me a room and told me that there was already one person in the room and I was the second person.

I went into the room and the person they told me was not there. The room attendant told me he had gone out for a walk. As I was tired of the journey, I thought of taking a nice hot bath and went to the bath room. I finished my bath and dressed up and was waiting for the person.

He arrived. A tall personality. Smiling face. I stood up and introduced myself. He told me that he was Pof.S. Dandapani of RIE, Mysore. I was very happy to get his company but at the same time I was a bit afraid of talking to him as he was an elderly person with more experience. He spoke humorously and we usually spoke about English literature.

In the early morning amidst the falling mist in February, we used to go out for a walk, and at a distance there was a chai-wala who used to give us good tea. Generally we spoke about R.K. Narayan's books and exchanged jokes in it. Thus I spent six days with him fruitfully.

Every morning going for a walk and talking about literature, education issues and so on. I learnt a lot in his company. Even after returning from Delhi I used to go to RIE to meet him.

Even after my retirement (he was also retired by then) we used to meet in Ramakrishna Institute of Moral and Spiritual Education (RIMSE) where I was given teaching assignment in B.Ed. section and he to deliver moral and spiritual lectures.

A well read person and more than that a great humanitarian, we have lost a treasure of knowledge with his demise.

Raghumurthy, who is currently serving as Tahsildar in Bengaluru, is the one who has been sentenced.

Rescue operation fails, 6-year-old girl dies in borewell at Belagavi district

Hubballi, Apr. 25- Six-year-old Kaveri, who fell into a borewell in Junjarwad village of Belagavi district on Saturday evening, was pulled out dead after a rescue operation which lasted for more than 54 hours.

The girl was stuck at a depth of 24 feet in the borewell and efforts to reach her were hampered by rocks. The foul smell emanating from the borewell since Monday evening had led to doubts about her surviving the mishap. All through the rescue exercise, oxygen was supplied to the girl through a tube under the supervision of Health Department Officials.

The staff of National Disaster Relief Force from Pune, Hatti Gold Mines and the Fire Brigade worked round-the-clock in the rescue operation. The family members of the girl have appealed to the Government to ensure refilling of all defunct borewells and create awareness to prevent such tragedies.

Meanwhile, the Belagavi District Administration has decided to file a criminal case against Shankrappa Hipparagi, the owner of the farm land for his failure to refill the defunct borewell. He fled the village after the tragedy occurred.

Even as Kaveri battled for her life, there was a huge outpouring of sympathy for her parents, 28-year-old Dalit farm labourer Ajit Madar & wife Savita, who are daily wagers struggling to make both ends meet. It was during their search for firewood that Kaveri fell into the borewell while playing in the barren farmland.

Mysuru, Apr. 25 (SBD&KS)- Principal District and Sessions Court Judge P.G.M. Patil, yesterday sentenced two persons to two years imprisonment and has imposed a fine of Rs. 50,000 on them for illegal transportation of sand. The Judge has also directed the Police to register a case against one Shivakumar and Mahadeva for providing false witness.

Those who have been sentenced have been identified as Umesh of Kanahalli village in T. Narsipur taluk and Basavaraju of M.C. Halli.

It is reported that on Jan. 21, 2015, T. Narsipur Police Sub-Inspector M. Shivanna and staff had intercepted a tractor loaded with sand near Kurubur village gate and had taken tractor driver Umesh into custody.

V. P. Singh was meant to be a dreamer, a poet, an artist; It was bad luck he ended up as Prime Minister

Point of VIEW

T.J.S. George

In the political universe of India, V. P. Singh rose as high as a citizen could — MLA, Chief Minister, Union Finance Minister, Defence Minister, Prime Minister, father of coalition politics. For all that, he was seen as a "failure" because he was a lone crusader against corruption and for social justice; those who disapproved of crusaders were more powerful. The footprints V. P. Singh left on the sands of time were rapidly washed away.

To make it in politics in India, one needs a certain crudity of disposition, a well-developed insensitivity to other people's needs. V. P. Singh had the opposite attributes, for he was really not a politician; he was a poet and an artist. He was shaped by the essential qualities of an artist — sensitiveness, a penchant for the subtleties that make up life, an eye for beauty including the beauty of the invisible. That a man of creative sensibilities was pushed into the negative tumble of politics was the tragedy of V. P. Singh.

How different it would have been if he had decided to dedicate his life to writing. See how his imagination takes wing as he watches tea being poured through a tea-strainer. The poem is titled Tea-Strainer and the lines go:

Bounded by wires
And punctured by holes
Is my being.
For a moment
My heart
Rapturously fills up
Then drop by drop
Drains away.
Whatever you may pour
Is never retained.
What remains
Are some drained leaves
Spent desires.
Life then a wait
For someone to come
And make tea again.

Fortunately, some of his works as poet and painter are available in book form. He usually wrote poems in Hindi, then, Tagore-like, translated them himself into English, making his imageries and dreamings available to a wider audience. Every Time I Wake Up is a collection of poems published by the Penguin Group in 2006. It's really a collector's item because, apart from the surprisingly revealing poems, some of them just two or four lines and untitled, the book contains evocative drawings by the poet. The cover jacket carries colour paintings in front and back in two contrasting styles.

V. P. Singh was a sick man. (He died in November 2008 after a long struggle with bone marrow cancer). The loneliness and the anxieties hospitalisation brought him are all the more moving for the candidness with which he wrote about them. Every time I wake up / It is night.... / With only my echo to tell me / How far away I am. How could a man of such perceptive responsiveness cope with the all-or-nothing attrition wars of politics? Singh as Defence Minister unveiled Rajiv Gandhi's involvement in kickback in defence deals such as Bofors. But he could not pursue that campaign with the relentlessness it needed. Poets just do not have the ruthlessness of politicians.

Did V. P. Singh have a private love link? It could as well be the flights of fancy of a poet felled by a fatal illness. But we cannot miss the tenderness of some of his untitled couplets that take up half the book under the generic heading Vignettes. After confessing in the very first Vignette that Desire tip-toed right up to me / It was too late to run, he gives us some teasers:

Blossoms whispered
You are in town

The floating lines are no doubt meant to be momentary thoughts that inspire and/or depress the poet. But the power of sentiment makes you pause and ponder when you read sudden lines like

The moon
Just peeped into my window
Did you send it ?

He certainly was aware that his public image was that of a politician, not a writer or artist. There are repeated references to the fallibilities and transitoriness of what makes news. But clearly the politician found consolation in the poet.

All their swords
Could not slay
My shadow

Not that he considered himself a ranking poet. At one point he says, with disarming self-effacement:

I counted
My poems
Like money
And realised
How bankrupt am I.

Perhaps, he knew that he was trapped in politics. That, at any rate, seems to be the message in the very last Vignette in the book:

I switched off the moon
And switched on the lights
I was in town.

A decade after his passing, he is still in town — as Prime Minister, and as poet and artist.

KRS crest gates maintenance work underway

Cauvery Neeravari Nigam to complete works in 15 days

Mysuru, Apr. 25 (RK&KS)- The Cauvery Neeravari Nigam (CNN) has taken up the annual maintenance work of KRS dam crest gates at a cost of Rs. 5 lakh.

The work, which began about five days ago, is likely to be completed in a fortnight.

Speaking to Star of Mysore today morning, CNN Executive Engineer K. Basavarajegowda said that there were 152 flood gates (also called as crest gates or surplus sluices) in the dam that need annual maintenance which is usually taken up before the onset of monsoon.

As part of the maintenance work, gate experts along with the operators would remove rust from these crest gates, apply grease, give a fresh coat of paint, undertake welding, oiling, movement verification etc., he added.

He said that these 152 flood gates have been divided into three categories such as River Sluices, which are the lowest level gates used to release water into the river in critical situations; Irrigation Sluices, three gates each in north and south directions, which are above River Sluices and Storing Sluices or Silt Gates, which are not being used now.

This apart, the CNN is also undertaking Dam Safety inspection and the works are being supervised by the CNN Executive Engineer and staff.

Siddharameshwara Jayanti

Netas skip celebrations

Mysuru, Apr. 25 (SP&DM)- The Siddharameshwara Jayanti celebrations, jointly organised by the District Administration, Kannada and Culture Department and Shivayogi Siddharameshwara Bhovi Hitarakshana Samiti at Kalamandira here this morning, was a lacklustre affair, with none of the netas attending the event.

Bhovi Development Corporation Director G.V. Seetaram inaugurated the event by lighting the lamp.

Speaking on the occasion, veteran scholar Prof. H.M. Vasanthamma who was the chief guest, said it was important for every human being to study and analyse the preachings of Vachanakaras and adopt at least some of them in their daily life.

Pointing out that Saints like Siddharameshwara sacrificed everything for human cause, she noted that success can be achieved by following the preachings of Vachanakaras.

Regretting that social evils are haunting the country even after 70 years of Independence, she said that the preachings of Vachanakaras will be of great help in building a better society.

Explaining the contribution of Siddharameshwara for the well-being of the society, she underlined the need for a casteless society.

Tahsildar Ramesh Babu, Kannada and Culture Assistant Director H. Channappa, Bhovi Samaja leaders G. Nagaraj, P. Mallaiah, Basavaraj, Rangaswamy and others were present.

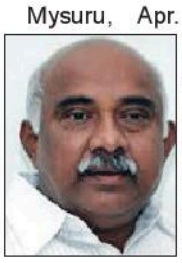
Vishwanath meets supporters over next political move



Mysuru, Apr. 25- Former MP and senior Congress leader A.H. Vishwanath, who has rebelled against party leaders, including CM Siddharamaiah and KPCC President Dr. G. Parameshwara, held meeting with his followers to discuss about his next political move at Jaladarshini Guest House yesterday.

He expressed his views on joining JD(S) at the beginning of the meeting and also about keeping away from active politics. But the supporters urged him not to quit politics, following which Vishwanath sought suggestions on the invitation from JD(S).

Pointing out that in his four-decade-long political career, the Congress party had given him everything, Vishwanath regretted that the party leaders were now trying to sideline him and added that he had to quit politics or take a decision to join JD(S).

Expressing displeasure over CM Siddharamaiah, Vishwanath said: "when District in-Charge Minister Dr. H.C. Mahadevappa was hospitalised, the CM visited him. The CM also met MLA Ambarish at his residence, inquiring about his well-being. But when I was undergoing treatment in a hospital at Coimbotore, the CM did not even telephone me."

Meanwhile, Congress leaders tried to convince Vishwanath, asking him not to quit the party.

DCC President Dr. B.J. Vijaykumar, along with party workers, held a discussion with him at Jaladarshini Guest House. But the out come of the meeting was not known. Vishwanath, after holding meeting with his supporters at Jaladarshini Guest House, also had similar meetings at his son Amit Devarahatti's residence in the city and at K.R. Nagar later in the day, sources said.

While State reels under drought...

CM and Ministers get ready for foreign jaunts!

Bengaluru, Apr. 25 (KMS&US)- When the State is reeling under drought with no fodder for livestock and labourers migrating to other places looking for greener pastures, the Chief Minister and a few other Ministers are getting ready for foreign trips which has raised criticism from every quarter of society.

It may be noted that the State Government had cancelled the proposed trip of farmers to foreign countries on a study tour citing drought and undue expenditure.

As a mockery to such a decision, Chief Minister Siddharamaiah is getting ready to leave on a four-day trip to UAE along with a couple of Ministers, MLAs and friends on Apr. 28.

As CM returns on May 1, Home Minister Dr. G. Parameshwara will be ready to leave for Australia on a week-long trip.

Energy Minister D.K. Shivakumar with family members has already gone to Canada on a ten-day trip.

For the last three years, the State is reeling under drought which is worst now and 160 taluks have been labelled as worst-hit and the Centre has been approached for financial assistance. At this juncture, the CM and Ministers going on foreign trips is just an irony receiving public wrath.

Time fast running out for RCB; need win against SRH

Bengaluru, Apr. 25- The VIVO IPL 2017 season began with a clash between Sunrisers Hyderabad and Royal Challengers Bangalore. The two teams will come up against each other to kick off the second-half of the regular league season, though this time RCB will play hosts.

RCB will be hurting from their embarrassing defeat to the Kolkata Knight Riders on Sunday night. Virat Kohli's bowlers came back brilliantly to bundle out KKR for 131, but in an astonishing second half, RCB themselves were bundled out for 49 – the lowest total posted in the IPL – with not one batsman getting past single figures. Skipper Kohli was at a loss for words when asked to explain the debacle, but one can expect some blunt words would have been spoken in the dressing room. RCB currently sit at the floor of the VIVO IPL 2017 standings and can barely afford another loss if they are to stay in the race for the Playoffs; they have two wins from seven matches, and given how closely teams are packed, RCB need to pick themselves up and start piling on the wins from here on.

Sunrisers Hyderabad, despite their last-ball defeat to Rising Pune Supergiant, are fairly comfortably placed in the standings with four wins from half their league matches. The team has almost all bases covered; the captain David Warner has not been at his destructive best yet, but he does the grind and scores runs, while there have been several other contributors with the bat. The bowling attack has been good too, though the team will be a tad disappointed with the result in the previous match. The one area that SRH will want to improve upon is their away record; they have played three matches on the road this season and are still winless.

Former Minister inaugurates Maharaja's College Alumni Association

Prof. BKC flays Kannada writers' double standards over medium of instruction

Former Minister Prof. B. K. Chandrashekar (BKC) is seen lighting the lamp to inaugurate the Alumni Association of Maharaja's College at its Centenary Hall here yesterday as (from left) Dr. Limbya Naik, Administrative Officer; Prof. C.P. Sunitha, College Principal; Dr. Subhash Bharani, Retd. ADGP, Bengaluru; Prof. R.N. Padmanabh, Working President of Maharaja's College Alumni Association; Dr. K.S. Govindaraju, Alumni Association Secretary and Dr. P.T. Bharathi, Co-ordinator, look on.

Mysuru, Apr. 25 - Former Minister for Primary Education Prof. B. K. Chandrashekar (BKC) has said that famous Kannada writers, who oppose English medium in schools, do not send their children and grandchildren to Kannada medium schools.

Speaking after inaugurating the Alumni Association of Maharaja's College here yesterday, Prof. BKC said these writers act as if they know everything under the sun.

"When I was the Education Minister, the government wished to introduce English medium from third standard, but these writers opposed it tooth and nail. Now, the same writers are advocating English medium from first standard itself," he added.

He said, "Education is the only means for a person to become a good citizen. Education doesn't just improve one's intellectual level, but also standard of living."

Maharaja's College has contributed a lot to academics. Writers like Kuvempu, Tee Nam Sri, Prof. G. S. Shivarudrappa, Dr. Chidanandamurthy, Dr. U. R. Ananthamurthy and many others studied here. They also taught here. It is the duty of all students, old and new, to carry forward their legacy, he said.

Retired Police Officer Dr. Subhash Bharani, also an alumnus of Maharaja's College, was the chief guest on the occasion.

Writer demands probe into irregularities at District Kannada Sahitya Parishat

Mysuru, Apr.25 - Writer D.N. Krishnamurthy has urged the Government to order a probe into the alleged irregularities in District Kannada Sahitya Parishat, even as Mysuru city is gearing up to host the 83rd Akhila Bharatha Kannada Sahitya Sammelana shortly.

In a letter addressed to the Chief Minister, a copy of which has been sent to Kannada and Culture Minister Umashree, District in-charge Minister Dr.H.C. Mahadevappa, State Kannada Sahitya Parishat President Manu Baligar and six other top officials, Krishnamurthy has alleged that a group in the Mysuru Kannada Sahitya Parishat had indulged in corruption and other irregularities and the holding of the National-level Kannada Literary Meet under the guidance of this group was certainly going to bring a bad name to the Government.

Accusing the group of massive corruption in the running of the District Sahitya Parishat, he alleged that the revenue generated from the Sahitya Bhavan in Vijayanagar, had not been audited.

Accusing former District Kannada Sahitya Parishat President Maddikere Gopal of swindling the Parishat revenue, Krishnamurthy said the incumbent President Dr. Y.D. Rajanna, who is a veterinary doctor by profession, is unable to do justice to his job as Sahitya Parishat President.

Maintaining that Dr. Rajanna, who is a Government servant, cannot head an autonomous institution such as the Kannada Sahitya Parishat, he claimed that Rajanna is holding both the posts because of his political clout.

Alleging that former District Kannada Sahitya Parishat Presidents Maddikere Gopal and M. Chandrashekar had failed to get the accounts audited and had cheated the Parishat to the tune of lakhs of rupees, Krishnamurthy claimed that the two were successful in getting their own candidate Dr. Rajanna elected to the post.

Stating that the hosting of the Literary Meet under the leadership of the two would be disastrous, he demanded a thorough probe into the alleged irregularities committed by the duo, amounting to lakhs of rupees.

Urging the government to give a facelift to the District Kannada Sahitya Parishat, Krishnamurthy warned of a legal battle if the Government does not act on the alleged irregularities.

WORD OF THE DAY

Cartographer

Pronunciation: kahr-TAH-gruh-fer
Meaning: One that makes maps
Origin: Up until the 18th century, maps were often decorated with fanciful beasts and monsters, at the expense of accurate details about places. French mapmakers of the 1700s and 1800s encouraged the use of more scientific methods in the art they called cartographie. The French word cartographie (the science of making maps), from which we get our English word cartography, was created from carte, meaning "map," and -graphie, meaning "representation by." Around the same time we adopted cartography in the mid-19th century, we also created our word for a mapmaker, cartographer.

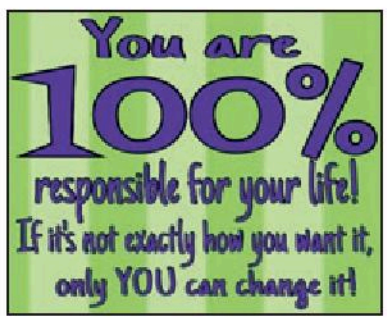
THE ODD WORD

Regolith

The layer of unconsolidated rocky material covering the bedrock.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

The moving finger writes



Meaning: Whatever one does in one's life is one's own responsibility and cannot be changed.
Origin: This line originates in Edward Fitzgerald's translation of the poem The Rubáiyát of Omar Khayyam, 1859:
The Moving Finger writes; and, having writ,
Moves on: nor all thy Piety nor Wit
Shall lure it back to cancel half a Line,
Nor all thy Tears wash out a Word of it.
